THE WORK OF A FIEND.

An Engine Demolished and Two Cars Derailed Within Three Miles of the City on the L. & N. Railroad.

NO SERIOUS INJURY TO ANY ONE.

The west bound Chesapeake & Ohio train, due here at 7:35 o'clock on Tuesday evening, was derailed at Polecat cut three miles east of the city under such suspicious circumstances as to justify the belief that it was not the work of novices in the railroad business.

The train consisted of a baggage car, a combination and day coach and a Pullman sleeper. It was nearly three quarters of an hour late and was coming down the grade at a lively rate of speed when the engineer, Pope McKenna, of Louisville, one of the best men in the railroad's employ, who kept his usual sharp look out, saw at a sudden turn in the road ahead an obstruction upon the track. He quickly reversed the lever and with the fireman, Red Griffin, also of Louisville, jumped to the ground, but it was too late however to avert the damage for the engine struck the obstruction, jumped the rails and fell over against the side of the deep cut. The baggage car and combination coach followed and piled up against the engine but the day coach and sleeper were not derailed. The excitement among the passengers was indescribable, the ladies screaming and the gentlemen making frantic efforts to raise windows to effect their escape. In a few moments though it was all over and the passengers standing in safety on the ground. The engineer broke one bone of his ankle and was bruised about the head and the fireman was also badly bruised, but aside from these and a bruise of his right side and arm that Mr. Al. Smith, of Louisville, a passenger well known in this city, and who was on his way here to visit his relatives, sustained by being thrown forward and then backward against the corner of a seat while in the act of pulling the bell cord, no others, as far as could be learned, received any injury whatever. Investigation showed that a large piece of timber had been put upon the track by some persons who evidently had evil designs either against the company or the passengers, but what they meant to realize, unless revenge for some fancied injuries, could not be discovered. It was known there were a number of passengers from this city on board the train returning from the Lexington races, including Col. L. P. Tarlton, Messrs. Frank Halloran, Will Grayot, Philip Carpenter and Mr. and Mrs. John R. Proctor, and the news of the occurrence when first received here occasioned great alarm. Before, however, anything definite could be learned or assistance rendered, the passengers, who were obliged to trudge their way into the city on foot, arrived to calm the anxious fears of inquiring relatives and friends.

The special on which the members of the Legislature were returning from their excursion to Lexington that day and which it was at first supposed in this city was the wrecked train, was following the C. & O. at such close distance that it was necessary for the conductor and brakemen to hasten back and place torpedoes on the track for the special to stop. A part of the members walked to the city but a number waited and were rewarded by a switch engine and coach going to their relief and bringing them to the depot. The wrecking car was on the scene and at work all day Wednesday and it was not until late that afternoon that the track was clear of the debris.

COURT OF APPEALS.

Two Franklin County Cases Decided, One Reversed and the Other Affirmed.

The Court of Appeals on Saturday decided two cases that were appealed from the courts of this county. One was the case of J. H. Moore and Benjamin McDonald vs. George W. Reynolds, and the other that of John White, jr.'s, administrator vs. the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company.

In the first named suit, Moore and McDonald, who were sureties on a note of Reynolds' in the State National Bank for $489.75, sought by attachment and sale of a tract of 48 acres of land which Reynolds had bought of the Woodruff heirs, and to whom there was still owing $175, to recover the amount they had to pay the bank as said securities. The lower court gave judgment to the plaintiffs, but dissolved the attachment and the Court of Appeals reversed the case.

The second case was for damages in the sum of $40,000 alleged to have been sustained by the father of White in the death of his son, who was killed June 3, 1891, by the railroad while in the employ of the Rock Crushing Company, at Benson. The Court of Common Pleas gave peremptory instructions in favor of the railroad and the jury accordingly returned a verdict and this verdict the Court of Appeals affirmed.

An Old Coin.

Mr. W. D. Hawes found a few days ago, on his place near Stedmantown, an English copper coin of the issue of 1776, during the reign of George the 3d. On one side it bears the head of King George, with the inscription: "George III, Rex. 1776." and on the reverse side is the image of the Goddess Ceres, with an inscription surrounding, which has become obliterated. The coin is about the size of a silver quarter and in a fair state of preservation. It was evidently lost by some of the early settlers who resided in the vicinity of the old Innes fort.

In Glass.

That's the way Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets come. And its more important point than you think. It keeps them fresh and reliable, unlike the ordinary pills in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes.

They're put up in a better way, and they act in a better way, than the huge, old-fashioned pills. No griping, no violence, no reaction afterward that sometimes leaves you worse off than before. In that way, they cure permanently. Sick headache, bilious headache, constipation, indigestion, bilious attacks and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels, are prevented, relieved and cured.

They're tiny, sugar-coated granules, a compound of refined and concentrated vegetable extracts—the smallest in size, the easiest to take, and the cheapest pill you can buy, for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction or your money is returned. You pay only for the good you get.

There's nothing likely to be "just as good."

Plants.

I have a fine lot of cabbage and tomato plants for sale. Orders can be left with Ellwanger Bros., Whitehead & Shaw or James Heeney.

THE FARMERS BANK.

Stockholders' Meeting, Election of Directors and Dinner by President Rodman.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Farmers Bank and its branches in Georgetown and Henderson took place at the home bank in this city last Monday. Judge George V. Payne, J. S. Gaines and Hon. S. M. Davis represented the bank at Georgetown and Hon. H. F. Turner and John Schlamp, the bank at Henderson. The directors of last year were re-elected and they then re-elected the former officers of the bank, viz: Thomas Rodman, President; J. M. Saffell, Vice President; Grant Green, Cashier, and A. W. Overton, Assistant Cashier. It requires no small ability to successfully conduct the affairs of a large banking institution like the bank here mentioned, and those who understand the difficulties and dangers of steering safely through periods of financial stress and at the same time maintaining the good will and business of a constantly increasing number of patrons, can readily appreciate the compliment which the directors have paid to the officers by according them so many re-elections, the President for seventeen years and the Cashier for more than a quarter of a century. After the meeting Col. Rodman, in accordance with his custom to celebrate the event, invited the directors and a few friends to dine with him, at his home on the South Side, the menu of which was as follows:

Spring Lamb. Ham. M middling and Beans.
Green Peas. Tomatoes. New Potatoes.
Cynillings. Radishes. Onions. Cucumbers.
Olives. Toasts. Asparagus. Assorted Cakes.
Strawberries. Cream. Coffee. Cigars.

There were covers for twenty as follows:

Rev. E. A. Penick, Rev. W. C. Taylor, Judge George V. Payne, J. S. Gaines, Hon. S. M. Davis, of Georgetown; Hon. H. F. Turner and John Schlamp, of Henderson; Col. Lewis E. Harvie, Col. R. P. Pepper, James Church, Wash. Chritchler, T. J. Jett, Horace Posey, J. M. Saffell, W. S. Dehoney, W. M. Saffell, John W. Rodman, A. W. Macklin, R. P. Pepper, jr., and E. Polk Johnson, of this city.

Col. Rodman is a splendid host and his guests were made to feel at home in the enjoyment of his hospitality.
